Sabrient Systems Introduces Independent Stock Research to Individual Investors

SANTA BARBARA, CA, September 6, 2006 – Sabrient Systems has expanded its independent equity research to include several new products specially designed for individual investors and available by subscription at www.sabrient.com/smart. Previously, Sabrient catered exclusively to institutions, broker/dealers, professional portfolio managers, investment advisors, and hedge funds.

Research Reports

Sabrient translates its quantitative research into comprehensive, reader-friendly SmartStock(sm) reports on individual companies. The reports, updated weekly, include discussion of the Sabrient rankings, as well as charts, market analysis, buy/hold/sell ratings, and comparisons with the market, the stock's industry group, and a selection of its peers. Previously, these reports were available only through certain online brokers and investment banking firms. Now, more than 5,800 reports are available to individuals through the Sabrient website.

Mini-Search Tool

Sabrient's SmartLink(sm) is a mini-search tool that allows the user to retrieve a quick summary of Sabrient's rankings and Buy/Hold/Sell ratings for up to 10 tickers at a time, with each ticker linked to its SmartStock report.

Investment Ideas

Several weekly SmartLists offer investment ideas in the form of top-ranked stocks taken from Sabrient's institutional research rankings in different market segments. The selections are based on a stock's expected short, intermediate and long-term price performance and each stock is linked to its SmartStock report. The lists include:

Sabrient Select: The 10 top-ranked stocks chosen from four market caps (large, mid, small and micro).

Sabrient Solitaires: The 10 top-ranked stocks from the 'uncovered' universe, i.e., those stocks that are not yet covered by Wall Street research analysts.

Sabrient Small Wonders: The 10 top-ranked stocks from the micro-cap market segment.

Additional SmartLists are scheduled for release in the near future.

"We are pleased to expand our research to individuals to aid them in their investment and trading decisions," said David Brown, Sabrient's Chairman and Chief Market Strategist.

"Because it is based on a quantitative analysis of a stock's fundamentals, our research is truly independent and unbiased.
